Course Description

ARH 4450 CAH-VISARTDES 3(3,0)20th Century Art: PR: ARH 2050 and ARH 2051 or C.I. A survey of the art from Fauvism, Futurism, Cubism to the art of the present. Spr

This course introduces students to the history of modern art, from the late nineteenth century through the twentieth. Students will examine the role that art has played within the development of modern culture internationally, as well as its relationship to socio-political transformations of this period. Students will explore the emergence of the historic avant-gardes of the early twentieth century, the rise of abstraction and new approaches to representational art, and experimental forms such as installation, performance and public art aimed at blurring the boundaries between art and everyday life. Students will also learn about the varieties of 'neo-avant-garde' practices to emerge in the decades following WWII, the critiques of modernism as a singular movement, and the artistic strategies associated with postmodernism of the 1980s and 90s. Students will read from a variety of historians, critics, and artists, each of whom seeks to articulate a distinct yet unsteady vision of the modern artist, the modern art object, image or gesture, and the modern world. Additionally, students will engage with digital exhibitions and projects aimed at understanding approaches to the presentation of modern art in museum spaces.

Student Learning Outcomes

After successful completion of this course:

- Students will broaden and deepen their understanding of specific artists, movements, strategies & practices of the twentieth century.
- Students will deepen their skills at critical reading and the analysis of modern art in relation to its historical and theoretical contexts.
- Students will strengthen their ability to discuss, debate, and articulate the artistic, social, and political stakes of a variety of modern practices, becoming more conversant in select themes, terms, questions, issues, and debates of this period.
- Students will hone their research and writing skills through completing short reading responses, two online exams, as well as completing a short final research project (6-7 pages in length)
- Students will develop skills in verbal communication and professional presentation through participating in class discussions.

Course Materials and Resources

Provided in Webcourses.

Course Assessment and Grading Procedure

This is a fully online, asynchronous course. Students will complete weekly course modules and reading assignments on Webcourses; submit one (1) essay and one (1) discussion post each week, and complete two online exams (a midterm and a final). This is not a course based on rote memorization for a textbook, but one that will demand careful observation, close reading, college-level writing, active participation, and critical thought – a strong intellectual curiosity and willingness to learn is highly encouraged!

Required reading materials: There is no textbook required for this course. All required reading materials will be available on Webcourses, organized according to the week/module for which they are assigned. These materials will be a combination of Webcourses content pages, links to online resources, and PDFs of scholarly essays and/or book chapters. See course schedule for complete list of required readings.

Exams: You will complete 1 midterm exam and 1 final exam this semester. These exams will draw closely from the material we discuss in class and that you synthesize in your reading questions. Completing reading questions thoroughly and taking notes on key learning objectives of each modules are the best ways to prepare for these exams. These exams will make 40% of your final course grade (20% per exam).

Reading Responses: For each module, I will provide an overview and one (1) to three (3) readings/scholarship. You will submit an essay of 300-500 words that responds to the prompt questions provided. Please use in-text citations and include correctly formatted bibliographic information for your sources at the end of your response; use whichever citation format (e.g. MLA, Chicago Style, APA) with which you are most familiar. Essay assignments will be due on Webcourses each Sunday evening by 11:59 p.m. and must be submitted as Word documents or PDFs.

Discussion Posts: Additionally, each week you will respond to a discussion prompt focused on your interaction with an assigned digital project (exhibition, podcast, etc.). These short, more informal responses provide an opportunity for you to engage with one another on current topics within the field. Besides your own post, you are asked to reply to at least one observation or takeaway from another classmate. Discussion posts will also be due on Webcourses each Sunday evening by 11:59 p.m.

Please respect your fellow students and your professor. Dialogue, informed debate, and risk taking are all part of learning, and all students in the course must participate in maintaining a safe, respectful, rigorous, and generous environment for this to happen. If you have any concerns regarding these policies, please notify your instructor immediately.

Note on the use of AI/Machine Learning: As a student and practitioner, I recognize the reality of artificial intelligence's use in higher education classrooms. However, only some Artificial Intelligence (AI) tools, such as spell-check or Grammarly, are acceptable for use in this class. Use of other AI tools via website, app, or any other access, is not permitted. In the context of this course's assignments, representing work created by AI as your own is plagiarism. Check with me to be sure of acceptable use if you have any questions.

Grading Scale

Letter Grade	Percentage

Policies for Course Grade

All the modules and assignments are open. You are welcome to work ahead and submit work at any time. There is no extra credit. There is no penalty for late work, but all work must be submitted by April 27 at 11:59 pm.

Course Accessibility

The University of Central Florida is committed to providing access and inclusion for all persons with disabilities. Students with disabilities who need access to course content due to course design limitations should contact the professor as soon as possible. Students should also connect with Student Accessibility Services \(SAS\) (Ferrell Commons 185, sas@ucf.edu, phone 407-823-2371). For students connected with SAS, a Course Accessibility Letter may be created and sent to professors, which informs faculty of potential course access and accommodations that might be necessary and reasonable. Determining reasonable access and accommodations requires consideration of the course design, course learning objectives and the individual academic and course barriers experienced by the student. Further conversation with SAS, faculty and the student may be warranted to ensure an accessible course experience.

Academic Integrity

Students should familiarize themselves with UCF's Code of Conduct at Student Conduct and Integrity Office. According to Section 1, "Academic Misconduct," students are prohibited from engaging in:

- a. Academic misconduct is defined as any submitted work or behavior that obstructs the instructor of record's ability to accurately assess the student's understanding or completion of the course materials or degree requirements (e.g., assignment, quiz, and/or exam). Examples of academic misconduct include but are not limited to: plagiarism, unauthorized assistance to complete an academic exercise; unauthorized communication with others during an examination, course assignment, or project; falsifying or misrepresenting academic work; providing misleading information to create a personal advantage to complete course/degree requirements; or multiple submission(s) of academic work without permission of the instructor of record.

- b. Any student who knowingly helps another violate academic behavior standards is also in violation of the standards.
- c. Commercial Use of Academic Material. Selling of course material to another person and/or uploading course material to a third-party vendor without authorization or without the express written permission of the University and the instructor of record. Course materials include but are not limited to class notes, the instructor of record's slide deck, tests, quizzes, labs, instruction sheets, homework, study guides, and handouts.
- d. Soliciting assistance with academic coursework and/or degree requirements. The solicitation of assistance with an assignment, lab, quiz, test, paper, etc., without authorization of the instructor of record or designee is prohibited. This includes but is not limited to asking for answers to a quiz, trading answers, or offering to pay another to complete an assignment. It is considered Academic Misconduct to solicit assistance with academic coursework and/or degree requirements, even if the solicitation did not yield actual assistance (for example, if there was no response to the solicitation).

Responses to Academic Dishonesty, Plagiarism, or Cheating

Students should also familiarize themselves with the procedures for academic misconduct in UCF's student handbook, The Golden Rule. UCF faculty members have a responsibility for students' education and the value of a UCF degree, and so seek to prevent unethical behavior and respond to academic misconduct when necessary. Penalties for violating rules, policies, and instructions within this course can range from a zero on the exercise to an "F" letter grade in the course. In addition, an Academic Misconduct report could be filed with the Office of Student Conduct and Academic Integrity, which could lead to disciplinary warning, disciplinary probation, or deferred suspension or separation from the University through suspension, dismissal, or expulsion with the addition of a “Z” designation on one’s transcript.

Being found in violation of academic conduct standards could result in a student having to disclose such behavior on a graduate school application, being removed from a leadership position within a student organization, the recipient of scholarships, participation in University activities such as study abroad, internships, etc.

Let’s avoid all of this by demonstrating values of honesty, trust, and integrity. No grade is worth compromising your integrity and moving your moral compass. Stay true to doing the right thing: take the zero, not a shortcut.

Title IX

Title IX prohibits sex discrimination, including sexual misconduct, sexual violence, sexual harassment, and retaliation. If you or someone you know has been harassed or assaulted, you can find resources available to support the victim, including confidential resources and information concerning reporting options at Let's Be Clear and UCF Cares.

For more information on access and community engagement, Title IX, accessibility, or UCF’s complaint processes contact:

- Title IX – OIE – Office of Institutional Equity & askanadvocate@ucf.edu
- Disability Accommodation – Student Accessibility Services – Student Accessibility Services & sas@ucf.edu
- Access and Community Engagement (including the Ginsberg Center for Inclusion and Community Engagement, Military and Veteran Student Success, and HSI Initiatives)

- UCF Compliance and Ethics Office – Compliance, Ethics, and Risk Office & complianceandethics@ucf.edu
- The Ombuds Office is a safe place to discuss concerns.

Reporting an Incident or Issue

If you believe you have experienced abusive or discriminatory behavior by any faculty or staff member, contact the Office of Institutional Equity online or at 407-823-1336. UCF cares about you and takes every report seriously. For more information see the Reporting an Incident or Issue Webpage.

Deployed Active-Duty Military Students

Students who are deployed active duty military and/or National Guard personnel and require accommodation should contact their instructors as soon as possible after the semester begins and/or after they receive notification of deployment to make related arrangements.

Campus Safety

At UCF Public Safety and Police, safety is the top priority. Emergencies on campus are rare, but if one should arise, it's important to be familiar with some basic safety and security concepts.

- In an emergency, always dial 911.
- Every UCF classroom has an Emergency Procedure Guide posted on a wall near the door, which will show you how to respond to a variety of situations. This guide can also be found online here.
- In the event of an active threat, remember AVOID, DENY, DEFEND. Choose the best course of action and act immediately. Watch the video here to learn more.
 - AVOID. Pay attention to your surroundings and have an exit plan. Get as much distance and as many barriers between you and the threat as quickly as possible.
 - DENY. When avoiding is difficult or impossible, deny the threat access to you and your space. Lockdown by creating barriers, turning the lights off and remaining quiet and out of sight. Make sure your cell phone is silenced, but do not turn it off.
 - DEFEND. When you are unable to put distance between yourself and the threat, be prepared to protect yourself.

Commit to your actions, be aggressive and do not fight fairly.
Do whatever it takes to survive.

- For emergencies on campus, UCF will utilize the UCF Alert system. All UCF students, faculty and staff are automatically enrolled to receive these email and text alerts, however, it's a good idea to frequently ensure your contact information is up to date.

Financial Aid Accountability

All instructors/faculty are required to document students' academic activity at the beginning of each course. In order to document that you began this course, please complete this activity by the end of the first week of classes or as soon as possible after adding the course. Failure to do so may result in a delay in the disbursement of your financial aid.
